Skiff and Sloop Classes had a really enjoyable day out at the Falmouth Maritime Museum last week as part of their wreck and rescue investigation. They learnt all about Henry

Trengrouse and his important inventions and tested them out by rescuing John Henry from his sinking boat, using both a rocket line and the breeched buoy! Everyone had great fun. The children also learnt how to make rope and were very excited to explore the Sea King helicopter, the life savers quad bike, life raft and inshore lifeboat in the sea rescue exhibition. Thank you to our parent helpers and well done to the children, who behaved brilliantly!

Congratulations to our Hockey Team who have qualified for the finals, well done everyone in the team. Also, congratulations to the Year 3 and 4 Badminton A-Team who have also qualified for their finals.

Schooner Class are proud of their new Class Books purchased with money they raised at the Christmas fayre. Ironheart, by Allan Boroughs a local author, will be the new class book. Each child will have their name at the front of one of the books and this will be a lasting reminder for others to enjoy.

The Schooner Class children are also writing about myths in ancient Greece. We have attached a sample from Talulah which we hope you will enjoy reading.

Long, Long ago in the times of the ancient greeks on the beautiful island of Crete there lived a girl named Artemis. She was not special or unique or even that interesting she was just normal. She worked as a temple builder, not a very well payed job so she struggled to make ends meet. Meanwhile up on mount Olympus the gods were panicing. The Sphinx one of the most dangerous and vicious monsters had escaped. "Ares! you should go your the god of war!" shouted Athena. "No way! it should be Apollo he can lure it back with his lyre!" he shot back. "Hey what about that human Artemis I believe her name is?" suggested Aphrodite. "Fine?" sighed Zeus. "at least no sacril blood will be spilt; go getch her Aphrodite but make it sharp my hair is gallin out im so stressed!" Artemis was just finishing cooking her dinner a beautiful rose like a blinding light came and left Aphrodite. "Come Artemis we have a task for you, you must kill the Sphinx!"

This week Lugger Class have been having a balloon debate. Each child took on the role of a person from history and argued why they were the most heroic and should remain in the balloon. The children have studied the speeches of Martin Luther-King Jr and Winston Churchill and delivered some very persuasive performances.
